The screenshot displays the JCM Global Match website, a match-making platform for climate technology projects. The header includes the GEC logo, a search bar, and navigation links: Home, What is JCM, How to Use, Good Practices, Open Discussion, Invitation Salon, Specialty, Scheduled Meetings, FAQ, and Inquiry. The main content area is titled "JCM Global Match" and "A match-making platform for climate technology projects". It features two primary sections: "Open Discussion" and "Invitation Salon". Under "Open Discussion", there are options for "Discussion by Country" (with a world map image) and "Discussion by Technology" (with an image of solar panels). The "Invitation Salon" section includes a button to "Create a new Invitation Salon as a host" and a list of existing salons, such as "私のグループ" (My Group) for "Solar power technology in Chile" and "太陽光発電" (Solar Power Generation). Below these, there is a section for "Find your partner by Type and Specialty" with images representing different roles: Seller, Buyer, Consultant, and Financier. A "Matching / Scheduled Meetings" section shows a table of matches. The table has columns for Matching Name, Status, Name, and Own. The data rows show matches for 20201202-20 and 20201203-21, both in a "Matching" status, involving "Aoyama Nanako" and "Aoyama N...". Below the table, there is a "View All" link and an "Official Twitter by GEC" section. The bottom of the page features a "Your Company's Specialties" section with a button to "Register My Company's Specialties".

Matching Name	Status	Name	Own

Green technology in Chile

I have an idea for the green technology in Chile, and I look for some business partners!

*This is a test post for the webinar.
